Show Costs Reach $1 Each Minute.
Did you ever stop to think how much capital and brains are put in a modern circus such as the Downs and Wheeler Show which will be here July 21? The beautiful high priced horses, the costly and monster canvasses made up with tons of rope, the mammoth carved animal dens and the thousands of feet of lumber used for seats, poles, stakes etc., and the modern lighting plants and goodness knows what all. Can you imagine the enormous sum that goes for the purpose of amusing you for the purpose of a ticket—and then you don't have to pay anything for the expensive parade and high class free acts. Then think of the daily expenses which are over two thousand dollars. Don't it take real brains and money to run a show like this? It takes more than anything else to run a show like this. It takes more than anything else to run a show like this. It takes more than anything else to run a show like this.

Norway Veteran At Gettysburg.
Probably no veteran of the Civil War who visited Gettysburg, last week, feels better repaid for the tiresome journey than does George W. Whitman of Alpine street, the only Grand Army man from Norway who made the trip and remained the entire week. It was his second visit to the famous battlefield since hostilities ended between the north and south, and two things connected with his visit were especially pleasing.

One was the meeting of an old tent-mate whom he had not seen since the 17th Maine marched off the battlefield; the other was the discovery in the National cemetery of a marker over the grave of a comrade whom he had carried from the battlefield, a half century ago.
Mr. Whitman returned home Sunday night, being gone from Norway eight days. He journeyed back and forth with the other survivors of the gallant 17th and on the trip they recounted many famous and bloody battles in which they participated during the four years of strife between the north and south. Of the regiment which went into the war with a total strength of more than 1000 men and officers, many of them residents of Oxford county, only these of Co. E, 17th Maine Regt. were present at the reunion on the battlefield of Gettysburg:

George W. Whitman, Norway.
Harvey Knapp, Cohoes, N. Y.
Edward Morse, Norway.
Lemuel B. Carter, Paris.
William Gammon, Portland.
Malvin Moulton, Portland.
Richard Libby, Windham.
Joseph Burgess, Minneapolis, Minn.

It was the latter who was the tent-mate of Mr. Whitman 50 years ago, and the welcome each gave the other in the company of the western veterans could be heard in all quarters.
"I hadn't seen Joe Burgess since three days before Lee's surrender," said Mr. Whitman, "and I made up my mind to find him if he was at Gettysburg. I learned where the veterans from Minneapolis were quartered and went over to the company headquarters. I was told where Burgess was sleeping and marched right into the tent without knocking. There were six or eight veterans sitting in the tent, and I picked out Joe right away."

"If Joe Burgess is in this tent, I should say that this is the man," I remarked, as I put my hand on one of the veterans' shoulders. I had picked the right man. After I had told him who I was and spent a long time talking of the old days, we recalled many things of interest connected with the battlefield of Gettysburg about the Wheatfield, Little Round Top, Round Top, Devil's Den, Peach Orchard, Cemetery Ridge, Culp's Hill, and other places, and then talked of the world had lived both of us the last 50 years.
"Burgess is in business in Minneapolis and has been there for years. He enlisted from Brownfield, and most of the years the regiment was in service pitched tent with him. He was hit in the leg at Little Round Top, three days before Lee's surrender, and was left on the battlefield. Later, he was taken to a hospital, where the surgeons wanted to amputate the limb, but Joe objected strongly. He said he had the leg which surgeons wanted to take away from him."

A Quiet Fourth.

The Fourth of July proved to be an unusually quiet one. The report of snap crackers was occasionally heard during the early part of the evening but not until the first stroke of the midnight hour did the real noise begin. The bells on the churches chimed in, announcing the Fourth of July, and with a sudden bang of fire works the day was ushered in.

The parties ringing the bell at the Congregational church rang it at an even clip for a long time. Apparently the parties ringing the Universalist bell became tired and stopped for a breathing spell but taking courage from the continual ring of the lower bell, would have with a double pace soon to be exhausted and then "do the same thing over again."

After an hour or so the noise began to die away and by morning there was only an occasional report. During the day it was quite decidedly hot.
The principal excitement was the ball games at the fair grounds and moving pictures at Central Park. The ball games were between the Paris and the Norway-John teams and at the morning games the Norway team won with a score of 2 to 0, both scores being made in the first inning. In the afternoon the Paris team went from bad to worse and the Norway team defeated them with a score of 12 to 0.

THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)

NUMBER 28, JULY 11, 1913, NORWAY, MAINE. VOLUME XLIV.

A Quiet Fourth.

The Fourth of July proved to be an unusually quiet one. The report of snap crackers was occasionally heard during the early part of the evening but not until the first stroke of the midnight hour did the real noise begin. The bells on the churches chimed in, announcing the Fourth of July, and with a sudden bang of fire works the day was ushered in.

After an hour or so the noise began to die away and by morning there was only an occasional report. During the day it was quite decidedly hot.
The principal excitement was the ball games at the fair grounds and moving pictures at Central Park. The ball games were between the Paris and the Norway-John teams and at the morning games the Norway team won with a score of 2 to 0, both scores being made in the first inning. In the afternoon the Paris team went from bad to worse and the Norway team defeated them with a score of 12 to 0.

Suffered Twenty-One Years— Finally Found Relief

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The physicians called it "Kilmer's Pain" and injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. I passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours, MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE, Avoyelles Par., Marksville, La.

Personally appeared before me, this 16th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

Wm. Morrow, Notary Public.

NORTH WATERFORD.

Blacketown,
 The District School,
 BY LYDIA P. LOON.

Close by the churchyard old and gray,
 The little red schoolhouse stands;
 Where many children in the play
 Gathered here in happy bands.
 We try to meet here once a year,
 To recollect friends so long dead;
 But we cannot hide the falling tear
 When the schoolhouse comes in view.
 How many lessons have we learned,
 And how many hearts with hunger yearned
 For food and charity.
 It was here we learned the golden rule,
 We learned to write and spell;
 In Blacketown's old district school,
 We learned to read as well.
 As we look through the dim old window
 At the churchyard down below,
 We remember all of our sorrow,
 We remember all of our woe.
 When they carried our dear ones slowly
 Along through the dim green aisle,
 And laid them to rest so lowly
 Where the flowers above them smile.
 The bluebird whistled to his mate
 That nestled in the distant lane,
 The robin down on the graveyard gate
 Was singing a sweet refrain.
 The oriole with his golden breast
 And his notes so full and free,
 Sang sweetly over the ones at rest
 From his home in the old elm tree.
 And swiftly the river ran along,
 With music soft and low,
 It seemed as if the same sweet song
 It sang so long ago.
 Do the violets grow in the wildwood,
 The same as they used to grow,
 And the flowers we gathered in childhood,
 Can you tell me, does any one know?
 Any more faces strangely softened
 With a smile of a life long past;
 And I hear you mourn so often
 That they were too far to last.
 May we gather our flowers in heaven,
 The roses and violets blue;
 And out of God's own garden
 May we gather the lilies too.
 The lilies of peace that in heaven
 Awoke at the Savior's voice
 And of all the flowers in Eden
 He will give to us our choice.
 If he cares for the sparrows when they fall
 With a love so full and true,
 He surely will hear his children call
 And will care for you and me.
 And now three cheers for Blacketown,
 Three for the schoolhouse red;
 Now let us all go softly down
 And strive to live our best.

Early Scenes.

Or A Ride on Horseback.
 Far away in the wilderness a girl of eighteen took a horseback ride over a very rough road. The horse had been used so much on rough roads that he seemed to be lame in every foot, and his appearance when he tried to trot was not the most graceful that ever was, but was kind of a sight.

My sister rode him some, just let him
 walk, and I asked her why she did not trot him. She said she was afraid that he would throw her off. One day I thought I would see if I could do as well as she, so I led him to a place and mounted myself as best I could on his back, and started by giving him a few strokes with the stick I had instead of a whip. He tried to trot but stumbled and fell, and I went off over his head. I hung to the lines, he turned around with his head towards me. I picked myself up, led him to a pine stump and got on again, this time placing myself firmly on astride. My good mother heard the children laughing, looked out of the window and helped to me. "Sarah Elizabeth what are you doing?" I told her I was giving a sister a few lessons in horseback riding. I remembered when I was some eight or ten years of age of riding horseback to meetings. My mother would take her seat on the horse, then they would place me on back of where she sat on the saddle and tell me
 to "hold on to the crupper."

What would the people think to see such a carriage as that drive up to the door of the church now? The benediction would be pronounced and the people would leave for home as fast as they could.

There were other rude ways of conveyance, but the people were happy in those early days, as I can remember the people seemed to look on the bright side as much as they do now. Why is it there is so much care and worry and hurry, when the work in many ways is made so easy by machinery? "There's a reason."

RID YOUR CHILDREN OF WORMS.

You can change fretful, ill-tempered children into healthy, happy youngsters, by ridding them of worms. Tossing, rolling, grinding of teeth, crying out while asleep, accompanied with intense thirst, pains in the stomach and bowels, feverishness and bad breath,
 are symptoms that indicate worms.
 Kickapoo Worm Killer, a pleasant candy lozenge, expels the worms, regulates the bowels, restores your children to health and happiness. Mrs. J. A. Bennett, of Elgin, Ill., says: "I have used Kickapoo Worm Killer for years, and entirely rid my children of worms. I would not be without it." Guaranteed.
 All druggists, or by mail. Price 25c.

Worms in Children.

By Dr. True

If mothers only knew the tortures the little ones may suffer from worms!
Thousands of children have stomach worms or pin worms and their parents do not know it. They doctor them for other ailments.

Signs of worms are:
Indigestion, with a variable appetite;
abnormal craving for sweets; nausea and vomiting; swollen upper lip; sour tongue;
offensive breath; hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; face at one time flushed, then pale and in a few cases the face takes on a dull leadened hue. Eyes heavy and dull, twich-ing eyelids; itching of the nose; itching of the rectum; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; little red points sticking out on tongue; starting during sleep; slow fever;
pulse quickened and irregular; body maybe hot; and often, in children, convulsions.

Don't delay! Delays are dangerous.
Give the children at once some of Dr.
True's Elixir. Directions on the bottle.
Sold by all dealers at 35c, 50c and $1.00.
Thousands of grateful mothers have given my Dr. True's Elixir to sick children and restored them to health.

WORKS WONDERS

For Worms in Children.

The diseases of childhood are often hard to interpret. A nervous condition, restless at night, an abnormally large appetite or sometimes none, may indicate worms. In such cases a teaspoonful of "L. F." Atwood's Medicine at night and a small dose before a light breakfast the following morning is harmless, and will settle all doubt about worms being the cause. Many mothers already know this: One of them writes: "My little boy, aged 6, has never been without 'L. F.' Atwood's Medicine since he was two, and I have found it invaluable for Worms, Constipation, etc."

Mrs. Adelbert E. Jellison, Franklin, Me.
